ACF NATIONAL CALISTHENIC CHAMPIONSHIPS 2021

The ACF is preparing to host the National Championships in Darwin from the 4th of July to the 10th of July 2021. However, as you are all aware, travel restrictions remain in place for some states due to COVID-19. CASA has deliberately chosen to hold off on calling for Registrations of Interest for 2021 teams. CASA does not wish to raise expectations for 2021 to have them deflated again early in the training schedule in 2021.

The ACF is keeping its lines of communication open with all state associations and will determine the continued viability of conducting the Championships in 2021 at some point in December/January.

CASA has advised the ACF Director of Competitions of the willingness of South Australian teams to participate in 2021, and of the fact that we are not undertaking our normal timeline of establishing state teams by early December.

I hope this clarifies the situation and everyone understands that although preparations for the 2021 Championship, at an ACF level, are underway the event may still be cancelled. A decision of this nature would occur late Dec/early January unless it becomes evident earlier. As disappointing as this would be, I am sure we would all prefer to err on the side of caution than have the events of 2020 unfurl themselves on state teams again. At this point CASA remains committed to the 2021 Championship with team selections and practice commencing post-Christmas 2020.
